

Editorial Manager® + RightsLink® for Open Access

An End-to-End Open Access Publishing Solution

When long-standing business models meet new Open Access mandates, publishers face new questions about how to efficiently collect and manage Article Processing Charges (APCs).

CCC and Aries Systems now make it possible for publishers to automate the management and collection of APCs right from within the Editorial Manager workflow through a deep integration with RightsLink® for Open Access. This solution delivers high-value services that benefit both authors and publishers including:

- Price estimates at the time of submission
- Pricing and discounts triggered by author and manuscript metadata captured during the editorial workflow
- Real-time reporting for both authors and publishers
- Dedicated customer service
- Simplified billing and collections

A Seamless Author Workflow

The author transaction is automated and easy:

1. Author submits manuscript for peer review through Editorial Manager.
2. Editorial Manager includes links to RightsLink for Open Access, which provides the author with an APC price estimate prior to manuscript acceptance.
3. Once manuscript is accepted, a publication offer with a link to RightsLink is shared with the author in Editorial Manager.
4. RightsLink calculates the final publication charges based on the publisher's unique business rules taking into account affiliations, memberships, author's home country, etc. and presents payment options to the author.
5. Once the author completes the transaction in RightsLink, the author automatically returns to Editorial Manager.
