

General Service Description

Allows users to republish third-party content into new works or expand rights to republish third-party content in backlist titles. CCC’s new republication service helps users – commercial publishers, freelancers, independent authors and creators – to more easily and efficiently license republication rights.

Pricing to be provided by Rightsholder

Step 1: Assign Base Prices

Please specify your prices in the table on page 2:

- Set your base price by type of use for each portion.
- On page 3, you can add surcharges or discounts by requestor type or publisher of the new work.
- If, after considering all options, you determine you cannot pre-price a particular permission, enter “MR” for “Managed Redirect.” This means you will review these permissions requests on a case-by-case basis.
- If you do not hold the rights and cannot grant permission, enter “Deny.”

Assign Base Prices: On the next page, please set base price in each cell. In next steps, you can set discounts/surcharges for Requester Type, Territory, Translations, etc. If you need to remove a TOU or portion, please indicate with a ‘~~strikethrough~~’ (for example, ~~audio~~) on the respective TOU and/or portion.

To use “Per Page” pricing for “Chapter/Article,” check this box and leave the “Chapter/Article” column blank.

Note: If a TOU and page portion requires a Managed Redirect or Deny, enter “MR” or “Deny” in the column next to that use, even if you have selected “Per Page” pricing.

Multi-Format Discount: Specify a discount percentage (%) or flat rate ($), if applicable, for users who order print and electronic and/or secure electronic use at the same time. For example, if the base price is $100 for print use and $100 for electronic use, then a discount percentage of 25% creates a base price of $150 for combined print and electronic use. If a discount of $25 is applied to this same scenario (base pricing of $100 for print and $100 for electronic), the base price for combined use is $175.

To limit the amount of your content that may be republished, check this box. Specify the amount as a percentage of the total length of the original work:     %. Note: This limit applies to the following portions only: “page” and “chapter/article” if you have set per-page pricing as indicated above. You must supply CCC with page length in your title metadata to implement this rule.

To limit the amount of your content that may comprise the new work/product, check this box. Specify the amount here as a percentage of the total size of the new work:     %.

Step 2: Apply Optional Discounts or Surcharges to your Base Prices

If you would like to offer discounts to or add surcharges to Base Prices, please indicate in the fields below. Except as otherwise indicated, discounts and surcharges are additive. For example, if your base price is $100 and your surcharge for a Pharmaceutical company is 200%, then the total fee becomes $300 ($100 base fee + $200 surcharge = $300). In contrast, if your base price is $100, and your discount for an academic institution is 10%, then the total fee becomes $90. ($100 base fee - $10 discount = $90). The total price when all multipliers are taken into account is a sum of:

1. The base price for each format selected
2. any surcharge/discount for requestor type
3. any surcharge/discount for territory/distribution
4. any surcharge for translations
5. any surcharge for product components
6. any surcharge for circulation
7. any surcharge for duration of use
8. any surcharge for additional uses

For example, if your base price is $100 and each surcharge is 20%, the total royalty to the user will be calculated as such: ($100 base price) + (Product Component surcharge of 20% X $100) + (Territory surcharge of 20% X $100) = $140 Total Royalty.
