Content and Knowledge Management Solutions

Achieve content agility, drive growth

Organizations for whom content is a source of revenue or a critical component to train employees, customers and partners, need to quickly discover, manage and reuse this information in order to innovate, meet business goals and gain competitive advantage.

CHALLENGES
Knowledge Managers, Learning and Development leaders, marketing professionals, and others who develop and manage volumes of mission critical content, invest in a wide range of resources to ensure their organization can adapt to changing employee and customer expectations and stay on the cutting edge. But in order to maximize the value of their digital information assets (both internal and external), organizations must eliminate data silos to make content more discoverable and agile, make content development workflows more efficient, and personalize the content access experience for each employee, customer and partner.

OUR APPROACH
We work with your team to look across people, process, content, and technology to understand your content and resource management needs, current processes and technology and develop a roadmap for a solution that aligns to your success criteria and delivers business value.

- Leverage our Content Management, Workflow and Strategy Experts — Our team understands content, content architecture, semantics, editorial processes, learning content management, change management, and content insight technologies.
- Gain a Trusted Advisor — We know what works and what doesn’t work. Quite often, we’ll present a fresh perspective with options and recommendations that perhaps hadn’t been considered before.
- Define the Solution — It’s not just about technology. Discovering the specific capabilities users and stakeholders need and aligning those capabilities to business value is often the most difficult part of a project. We can help you prioritize and select the most critical capabilities while keeping your business goals front center.
- Provide Cost Estimates and Actionable Plan — We capture high level capabilities, provide indicative cost estimates and an actionable plan for a first phase, and create a roadmap that shows capabilities that can be delivered over time.
