WHAT'S NEW WITH MARKETPLACE?

Marketplace: December 2021 Release

Marketplace (marketplace.copyright.com) is a self-service, ecommerce site that enables people in business, higher education, publishing and other markets to quickly search, find, and purchase permissions to use and share content to conduct business, enrich instruction, and request article reprints and ePrints from thousands of publishers around the world.

With the December 2021 release, we continue to make improvements to our academic and corporate Pay-Per-Use Services. New features and enhancements include:

- The ability to sort projects by order creation date
- Improved project creation process for new academic users
- The ability to delete academic projects with no orders
- A new purchase confirmation notification for academic customers

New Features and Enhancements

Sort Project by Order Creation Date

Customers are now able to sort their projects by order creation date, including pending and completed orders. In addition, they can easily see what projects will become an order in ten days or less, so they don't make any last-minute changes before the order is created. See screenshot below on next page.
