RightFind Enterprise for Food and Agriculture Companies

The fastest way to find, manage, and collaborate on content

With rising material costs and ingredient prices, food companies must make up for lost margins with investment in new products, new ingredients, or new ways of using existing ingredients. Without fast, secure access to vital published content, R&D teams cannot do their jobs efficiently, slowing the pace of innovation.

RightFind Enterprise is an award-winning content workflow solution used by top global food companies to streamline access to scientific information, support regulatory filings, and drive research. By consolidating multiple content workflows, centralizing content purchases and reporting, and leveraging flexible cost controls in a scalable solution, organizations can save time and increase efficiency.

RightFind Enterprise also integrates seamlessly with CCC’s copyright licenses to make copyright-compliant collaboration easier. The result? You accelerate the flow of research, minimize copyright infringement, and drive research to power innovation.

RightFind Enterprise Administrator Capabilities

- Granular rights and subscription configuration: RightFind Enterprise gives users instant access to your organization’s licensed content in accordance with your company’s publisher subscriptions, token accounts, annual copyright license, and more.

- Flexible administrator features: RightFind Enterprise provides flexible tracking fields, billing options, cost controls, and notifications for the entire company or at a granular level such as division, department, or team to support an organization’s specific structure and workflows.

- Powerful content usage reporting and analytics: RightFind Enterprise includes robust reporting to monitor content usage and spend across all users and organization levels with over 100 customizable fields providing the data you need. You can gain even deeper insight into content usage to make data-driven content acquisition decisions with 25 reports that make it easy to customize a dashboard to tell your content ROI story.

- Seamless workflow integration: RightFind Enterprise supports users’ current workflows including Open URL links from preferred search and discovery tools such as PubMed, SciFinder, CABI, EBSCO, Agricola, and FSTA. Our QuickChek bookmarklets allow users to request content from any website, and the embedded search widget launches RightFind Enterprise searches from your organization’s internal websites. With the Chrome extension users can quickly request content from their preferred search tool, like PubChem. The RESTful APIs make application integration easy.

- Authentication: RightFind Enterprise simplifies the authentication process and provides direct access to content. It offers the ability to limit access to content by group or division for both enterprise and site-based subscriptions, helping remote employees and organizations with non-static IP infrastructure to gain easier access to their high value content. Additionally, it captures all content requests, tracking content usage down to the individual user level.

- Training: RightFind is an intuitive self-service tool that doesn’t require intensive formal training. Helpful how-to videos are a click away making it convenient for your users to start using RightFind immediately.

RightFind Enterprise End User Capabilities

- Simplified copyright compliance: RightFind Enterprise works with your CCC/Rights Direct Copyright License to show exactly how you can reuse published material and seamlessly integrates rights checking into users’ workflows.

- Fast document delivery: RightFind Enterprise delivers over 1.8 million documents annually with the quickest document turnaround time in the industry, delivering 96% of documents in less than 1 day.

- Robust catalog: RightFind Enterprise’s proprietary database of more than 145+ million citations, including more than 4+ million open access articles from the top STM publishers and sources like PubMed Central, will get you the food, ingredient, and safety content you need fast.

- Centralized Cloud Library: RightFind Enterprise centralizes accessing and purchasing full-text documents. Users can see which content is available for use within their company holdings without having to repurchase. All content is saved in one location for organization.

- Collaborative shared libraries: Facilitate copyright-compliant collaboration to power innovation with the ability to customize content workflows based on roles, e.g., Regulatory, Food Safety, Scientists and Research Investigators. Team members can work in collaborative libraries allowing them to annotate, rate, tag, and review documents.
