WHAT'S NEW WITH MARKETPLACE?

Marketplace: June 2022 Release

Marketplace (marketplace.copyright.com) is a self-service, ecommerce site that enables people in business, higher education, publishing and other markets to quickly search, find, and purchase permissions to use and share content to conduct business, enrich instruction, and request article reprints and ePrints from thousands of publishers around the world.

With the June 2022 release, we now offer:

- A new Medical Communications Project type of use (MedComms)
- New STM Guidelines types of uses through the Republication Licensing Service
- A new search feature that will allow academic customers to search across all their academic projects.

Medical Communication customers will have access to the new type of use (MedComms) and an enhanced project feature. New features and enhancements include:

- The addition of the MedComms type of use
- Enhanced MedComms projects
- Expanded orders view in manage account to support MedComms orders

The new STM Guidelines types of uses will enable STM publishers to reuse a limited amount of content from other STM publishers at no cost. The new types of use are as follows:

- Republish in a book under STM Guidelines
- Republish in a journal under STM Guidelines

Academic customers will now be able to search across all their academic projects so they can easily find any given project based on search criteria.

Copyright.com

As part of the June release, all pending invoices on Copyright.com will now be paid on Marketplace. Copyright.com will continue as the marketing website for all CCC products and services, and serve as the copyright education hub, spanning the corporate, academic (higher-ed and K-12) and publishing markets and continue to function as the company's general business website.

Note: Customers will still be able to access Manage Account on Copyright.com for a limited time to copy previous orders over to Marketplace, and access historical order data.

Benefits to Your Customers

MedComms customers will now have access to the new Reuse in a Medical Communications Project type of use on Marketplace. They will be able to quickly select their intended content use, benefit from article- and/or chapter-level search, employ a new project to incorporate multiple types of items with different permissions under a project.

Other STM publishers will be able to use the new STM Guidelines types of use and obtain licenses according to specified agreements.

The Addition of the MedComms Type of Use

Updated Market Buyer Page and Request Details

After selecting “Medical Communication Agency,” the ‘Next’ button is activated, and the customer can proceed. On the following page, the customers will be presented with the types of use based on their responses to their new project and who they are. Responding to these questions helps the customer more quickly proceed through the workflow by surfacing only relevant types of use (TOUs).

Reuse in a Medical Communication Project Type of Use

To fully support MedComms pay-per-use customers, the MedComms TOU is now visible in the workflow. Customers are now able to select the Reuse in a Medical Communications Project type of use and answer the relevant questions to get a response and add the item to an existing or new MedComms project. See screenshots below.

The main content area features a card for 'First Monday', an e-Journal. It lists the ISSN (1396-0466), Publication Year (1996 - Present), and Publisher (FIRST MONDAY EDITORIAL GROUP). It also specifies the Language (English), Country (United States of America), and URL (http://www.firstmonday.dk). A 'View all details' link is at the bottom of the card.

Below the card, the 'Type of Use (TOU)' section is shown with a dropdown menu. The dropdown is open, displaying a list of options: 'Make a selection', 'Reuse in a medical communications proj...', 'Educational/Instructional Program', 'Republish in brochure/promotional mate...', 'Republish in presentation/slides', 'Republish in training materials', 'Send in an e-mail', 'Post on an intranet', 'Post on the Internet', and 'Post on an extranet'. A blue arrow points to the 'Reuse in a medical communications proj...' option.

At the bottom of the page, a footer contains the copyright notice '© 2022 Copyright Clearance Center' and links to 'About Us', 'Terms & Conditions', 'Privacy Policy', and 'Contact Us'.

A customer can add items from within the project cart. Adding an item takes the customer back to the landing page so they can perform a new search. The project they are working on is retained in the workflow, simplifying the process for adding new items to the project. At an item level, a customer can view publisher terms and conditions, edit details, and remove items from a project.

When adding a new item to a project, answers to the most recent item added to that project are maintained and pre-populated in the workflow so that the customer does not have to answer all the same questions again.

The customer can purchase items within their cart at any time, essentially committing those permission items to be invoiced or paid for immediately with a credit card. See screenshot below.

You can build your project in the following tabs.
