CCC Marketplace

Streamline Your Copyright Permissions Workflow

CCC Marketplace is an e-commerce site that enables you to search for, order, and manage permissions to reuse and share copyrighted content, as well as purchase content, without having to navigate multiple publisher websites and unique workflows. With Marketplace you can quickly search for and check article content, including associated figures, tables, and more from 24,000+ publishers, including leading STM publishers and societies such as the American Medical Association, The British Medical Journal, Elsevier, John Wiley and Sons, Oxford University Press, Sage Publications, Springer Nature, Wolters Kluwer Health, and the American Society of Clinical Oncology.

Marketplace makes it easy to obtain print and digital permissions for medical communications and republication purposes, including:

- External promotional uses such as presentations, web postings, training materials, reference guides, and other medical communications activities.
- Republishing content for new articles, books, theses, and other published materials.

Why Marketplace?

Enables you to secure permissions to use and share content from millions of titles in science, technology, medicine, the humanities, news, business, finance, and more.

Allows you to incorporate multiple types of items with different permissions under a "project" (e.g., MedComms) and share details with clients and internal teams.

Helps you maintain copyright compliance while demonstrating respect for intellectual property.

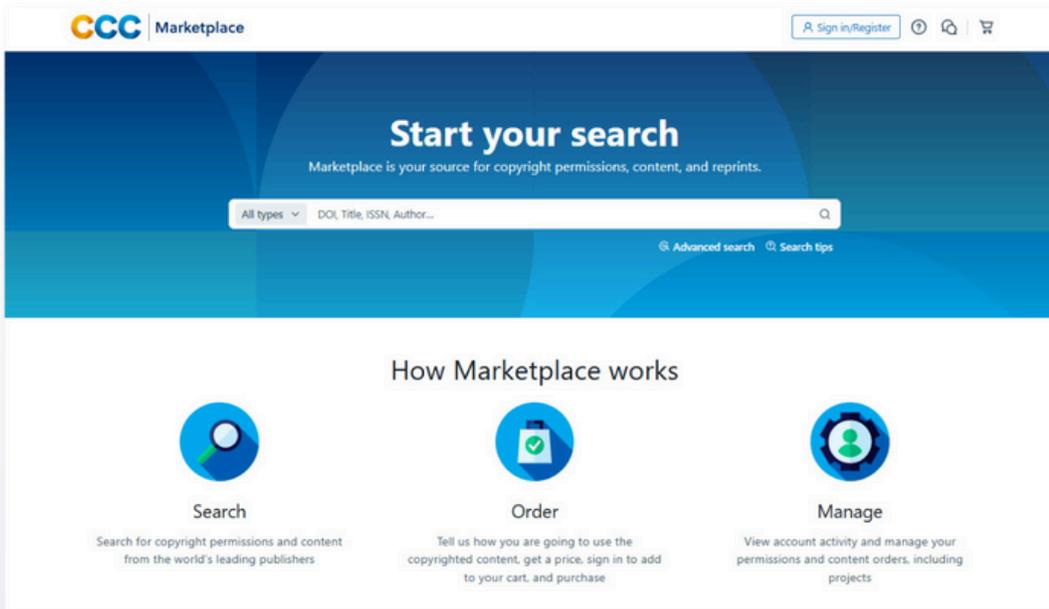

Offers the easiest way to order documents and secure high-quality, copyright-compliant bulk article reprints and ePrints from thousands of publishers and societies around the world.

Manage Permissions Efficiently

Project tools in Marketplace enable you to purchase a variety of rights on behalf of multiple clients, creating distinct projects to easily track status and budget and share project details with clients and internal stakeholders.

With the project builder features in Marketplace you can:

- Incorporate multiple items with various permission types from multiple publishers
- Add pre-priced and special request items to your projects
- Manage important project-specific details
- Make purchases using a credit card or via invoice

Visit Marketplace to secure permissions to reuse copyrighted materials, including millions of works from tens of thousands of publishers.
