

CCC's AI Systems Training License

Obtain the Rights to Use Content for Training AI Systems for External Purposes — Fairly and Efficiently

Developing robust AI language systems requires large quantities of quality materials, including copyrighted content. Vast quantities of data are not only needed for foundational training efforts but also for fine-tuning, specialized pretraining, and retraining. As organizations across various industries increasingly build and train AI systems, scaling access to quality content and securing rights can be a complex challenge, particularly when licensing from multiple sources.

As more organizations train AI systems, they are looking for solutions to help them navigate the legal landscape and secure global rights to use content for training that is legally compliant and respects intellectual property.

With more than 45 years of copyright licensing expertise, CCC develops licensing solutions to support evolving uses of copyrighted content.

CCC's AI Systems Training License provides the necessary rights to enable lawful use of diverse, high-quality content, enabling you to build ethical, high-performing AI models while mitigating risk and securing a competitive advantage in today's dynamic market.
